Screen Printing

Screen printing is one of the early methods of printing. It involves the passing of ink or any other printing medium through a mesh or 'screen' that has been stretched on a frame, to which a stencil has been applied. The stencil openings determine the image that will be imprinted. Screen printing was a technique first used by the Chinese almost 2000 years ago. The Japanese adopted the screen printing process and used woven silk. The use of silk is where screen printing got its alternative name - silk-screening or silk screen printing.

Printmaking

Step 1: Produce the 'block' by simply pressing lines into the soft foam surface. Use a 4B pencil or a ballpoint pen. For larger areas, press into the foam with a popstick, spoon or a similar blunt object.

Step 2: Ink the surface with any kind of water-based printing ink or paint with a foam roller. Carefully lay a sheet of paper over the inked surface and rub all over with a hard roller, the back of a spoon or with the palm of your hand.

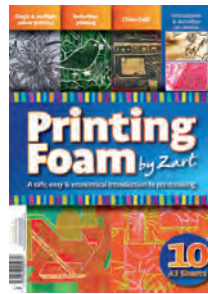

Step 3: Peel back the print slowly. Repeat the inking and rubbing for as many prints as you desire. Experiment with different coloured inks and different coloured papers.

Step 4: To wash the block, simply hold under the tap or soak in water. The surface and lines may be carefully cleaned with a soft brush. The block will store easily for future use, when completely dry.

Splatter Art

Splatter Paint Print

Step 1: Use a piece of drawing paper (cover the table with newspaper or a mess-free cloth).
Step 2: Place an item such as a pressed flower (stencils also work well) on the paper. Dip the bristles of the brush in watercolour or poster paint.
Step 3: Rub the brush over the splatter screen to splatter the paint around the flower, then remove the flower. The splattered paint will look like confetti outlining your picture. Allow the paint to dry. To create rainbow splatters, use different colours of paints.

Drawing Materials

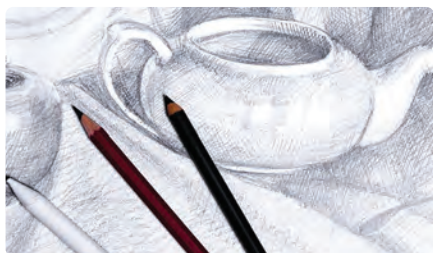

Writing & Drawing Tools

A selection of writing and drawing tools to create a picture or story.

Pastels

- Pastels are sticks of pure pigment.
- Hard pastels are able to be shaped and sharpened to achieve more exact lines but are made with less pigment than soft pastels.
- Soft pastels crumble more easily and smudge, however, they contain more pigment.

Graphite Pencils

- Use a combination of both H and B pencils to create a full range of values.
- H pencils work for the light and middle values, B pencils for middle and dark values.
- 6H is the lightest (hardest), and the 6B is the darkest (softest).

Fabric Markers

- Used for drawing on any type of fabrics or materials.
- Great for use with stencils.
- Less messy than paint and creates cleaner line work.
- Seal your design with a warm iron.

Chalk

- Chalk is great to work with, as mistakes can be removed easily.
- Use with chalkboards, black paper or on pavements.
- Use the long side for broad strokes and the top to draw thin lines.

Oil Pastels

- Oil pastels look like crayons but are much smoother, brighter and easier to blend.
- The pigments contain non-drying oils and binders that are less powdery than soft pastels.
- They provide a harder edge than "soft" pastels but are more difficult to blend.

Watercolour Pencils

- Wet the pencil and then draw with it or wet the paper or surface you are working on.
- Always use watercolour paper, regular drawing paper will buckle when it gets wet.
- When using water it will look a few shades lighter than the pencils you are using.

Pens

- A variety of different styled pens for all drawing and sketching.
- Pens that write on any surface.
- Fine line pens for detailed work.
- Gel pens are thick and stand out on dark surfaces.

Crayons

- The very first crayons were a mix of charcoal and oil and were always black.
- These days, crayons are made of pigment and wax in a variety of colours.
- Easy to work with, non-toxic, inexpensive and not messy.

Charcoal

- Charcoal sticks are made from kiln-fired willow twigs.
- Charcoal is mostly used in stick or pencil form for sketching and free drawing.
- It is crumbly, smudges easily and can be blended by using fingers or erasers.

Markers

- These are used to lay down strong areas of colour.
- Great for drawing and colouring in.
- Available in thin, thick, permanent, whiteboard and metallic and available in a large assortment of different colours.

Calligraphy

- Decorative handwritten lettering.
- Can use either markers, nibs or brush pens to achieve strokes.
- Use with inks on cartridge paper for best results
- Develop your own unique style.

Tips to keep your clay from drying out

Clay will keep moist if it is sealed in airtight packaging and stored out of direct sunlight. Once the bag is opened, take out enough clay for your project and then reseal the bag by folding the plastic over and taping it to not allow any air inside. We recommend wrapping a damp cloth around the surface of the clay to keep it moist in the packaging since the heat from your hands after touching it will slightly dry out the clay.

A group of malleable substances used to sculpt and build

Clay

- A versatile, natural, hands-on material that inspires creativity and encourages experimentation.
- A natural modelling material derived from the earth.
- Clay play is a great sensory experience and develops fine motor skills.
- Use for sculpture, coiling, slabs and pinch pots.
- Use the score & slip technique to attach two wet pieces of clay together.
- Available in air dry or earthenware.

Dough

- A modelling compound used by young children for art and craft projects at home and in school.
- Dough is soft to mould with, and never dries out if stored correctly.
- Available in an assortment of colours, including skin tone shades.
- Cream of tartar allows you to make your own dough! There is a recipe on page 233.
- Use our range of modelling tools to create different shapes and textures in the dough.

Kinetic Sand

- An easy to shape sand that moulds well and has motion.
- 98% pure sand, 2% Polydimethyl siloxane, a silicon-based organic polymer that gives kinetic sand its fluid like movement once pressed by your hand.
- A great sensory activity for children.
- It never dries out therefore continuous play for hours.

Plaster of Paris

- Plaster of Paris is suitable for producing moulded figures from latex or other plastic moulds.
- Mixing is simple – just add water and mix to a creamy consistency.
- Dries naturally at room temperature, then can be painted on.
- Supplied in powder form or plaster rolls for modelling around wire.
- Great for the whole class to work on to create their own unique designs.
