Drawing & Painting Paper

Art paper is available in an extensive range of sizes, thicknesses and finishes. Quality drawing and painting papers are considered to be durable enough to withstand repeated erasing or absorbency without causing serious damage to the surface. The thickness, permanency and superiority of art paper compared to standard quality paper should be able to take ink or watercolour without bleeding or excessive absorption. The basis of different textures range from smooth (hot pressed), medium (cold pressed) to rough surfaces. Tooth is the paper's ability to hold dry media. Grain refers to the direction of the paper fibre.

Large sheets of heavy duty, extra thick cardboard can be used for constructing 3D models, temporarily mounting artworks (box board is recycled, not acid free). Canvases & Canvas Boards

Canvas is a traditional surface for painting used for centuries by the masters, and it has endured in modern times as the support of choice. Ideal for acrylics, oils or mixed-media. Artists love to paint on canvas for its pleasing receptivity to the brush and its longevity. If you want to create a permanent artwork that will endure for centuries, you can't do any better. A stretched canvas is also your best option to create a very large painting plus there is the option to leave it unframed as it is already stretched over wooden bars creating a firm framed edge around the artwork. Canvas panel boards are lightweight and easily transported, perfect for plein-air painting if the surface of choice is canvas.

Printmaking! How to...

STEP 1: Produce the 'block' by simply pressing lines and areas into the special soft foam surface. Use a HB pencil or a ballpoint pen. For larger areas, press into the foam with a popstick, spoon or a similar blunt object.

STEP 2: Ink the surface with any kind of water-based printing ink or paint with a foam roller. Carefully lay a sheet of paper over the inked surface and rub all over with a hard roller or a printing baren or use the palm of your hand.

STEP 3: Peel off the print slowly. Repeat the inking and rubbing for as many prints as desired. Experiment with different coloured inks and different coloured papers.

STEP 4: To wash the block, simply hold under the tap or soak in a dish of water. The surface and lines may be carefully cleaned with a soft brush. The block will store easily for future use when completely dry.

Screen Printing

Screen printing is one of the early methods of printing. It involves the passing of ink or any other printing medium through a mesh or 'screen' that has been stretched on a frame, to which a stencil has been applied. The stencil openings determine the image that will be imprinted. Screen printing was a technique first used by the Chinese almost 2000 years ago. The Japanese adopted the screen printing process and used woven silk. The use of silk is where screen printing got its alternative name – silk-screening or silk screen printing.

Drawing

Learn the fundamentals of drawing techniques for sketching and shading using essential drawing materials such as graphite pencils, graphite sticks and charcoal. Explore colour using coloured pencils, water-soluble drawing media, pastels and chalks. A great selection to suit your drawing style. The pastels on range come in either oil-based, soft or chalk pastels, which are best used on tinted or black coloured art papers. Oil pastels are mixed with a non-drying oil and wax binder with rich pure pigments that are smooth and creamy, used for strong drawing or sketching as they are less easy to blend like soft pastels. Soft pastels contain higher volumes of pigment and crumble more easily. Fantastic for blending, layering and creating scenic pictures. Available in vibrant colours.

Charcoal

Charcoal has been used for drawing since prehistoric times. Today, charcoal sticks are made from kiln-fired willow twigs. Charcoal is most used in stick or pencil form for sketching and free drawing. It is rich, crumbly and smudges easily. It can be blended by using fingers or an eraser. Apply water to create a charcoal wash. Charcoal pencils are great to use for shading and line work to produce dark, intense sketches. Use alone or in combination with other dry media. Also ideal for quick layouts for painting. White charcoal pencils create beautiful tints and highlights to a drawing.

Modelling Materials

Modelling clay is a malleable substance used in building and sculpting. Natural and No Fire clay will harden when left to air-dry, which can then be painted and varnished. A perfect product for students and hobbyists. Standard earthenware clay will air-dry but ideally should be fired then glazed in a kiln to strengthen and whiten the artwork to prevent breakages. Used in classrooms or ceramic art studios as sculptural and functional studio pottery with exceptional pliable properties for achieving fine detail. Oven bake jewellery is a type of polymer clay that does not air-dry but can be baked in a home oven on a low temperature. Generally used by artists, hobbyists and children, this coloured clay is great for producing not only jewellery, but also stop motion animations, photo frames, vases, figurines and more!

Features

- Dries within 24 hours in the open air or at room temperature, without shrinking or bending
- Texture remains smooth after drying
- Fire at 1100-1200°C to become porcelain
- Any leftover clay should be stored in an air-tight container
