Printmaking - Block Printing

Printmaking

Step 1: Produce the 'block' by simply pressing lines and areas into the soft foam surface. Use a 4B pencil or a ballpoint pen. For larger areas, press into the foam with a popstick, spoon or a similar blunt object.

Step 2: Ink the surface with any kind of water-based printing ink or paint with a foam roller. Carefully lay a sheet of paper over the inked surface and rub all over with a hard roller, the back of a spoon or the palm of your hand.

Step 3: Peel back the print slowly. Repeat the inking and rubbing for as many prints as desired. Experiment with different coloured inks and different coloured papers.

Step 4: To wash the block, simply hold under the tap or soak in water. The surface and lines may be carefully cleaned with a soft brush. The block will store easily for future use, when completely dry.

Hints & Tips

If the lino is too stiff and carving is difficult, leave it in the sun for five minutes. This will cause it to soften, making it a little easier to carve.

Printmaking - Screen Printing

Screen Printing

Screen printing is one of the early methods of printing. It involves the passing of ink or any other printing medium through a mesh or 'screen' that has been stretched on a frame, to which a stencil has been applied. The stencil openings determine the image that will be imprinted.

Screen printing was a technique first used by the Chinese almost 2000 years ago. The Japanese adopted the screen printing process and used woven silk. The use of silk is where screen printing got its alternative name – silk-screening or silk screen printing.
