Hello Puzzlers, I'm back

Welcome to another deviously puzzling puzzle where almost everything begins with the letters F or G or possibly one of the other ones.

When the previous puzzle came out I was 78 or so and had just lost quite a lot of being 77 because of a heart attack and a double heart bypass.

And every time I thought it was time to start the next puzzle, I decided that tomorrow seemed like a better idea and I told myself that because most people my age had retired or died, I could just take it easy and not hurry, and then I also realised that because I was 77, if I didn't get on with it, I would probably die too before I got to the letter 'Z'.

So I got back to work and finished this puzzle, and then made the 'H' puzzle and I'm now well on with the 'I' puzzle too.

And I seem to have found most of my memory again and I'm just getting a lovely new computer and monitor so I can work even faster.

So enjoy this puzzle and challenge your friends and relations to see who can find the most words, though I wouldn't bother with the heart attack. They're not that great.

We have also got a wonderful new whippet called Henry.
